The Eaton Concert Series is back!

The organisers write:

“We’re delighted to announce that the Eaton Concert Series has a spring in its step and will be putting on a fabulous recital next month.

We’ve been laying dormant since last April, but believe we have the perfect antidote to the horrid Beast from the East...

Ever popular and long-standing performers of the concert series, violinist Andrew Storey and pianist Viv McLean, will be performing works by Mozart (Sonata in E minor), Beethoven (Spring Sonata), Bartok (Romanian Dances) and César Franck (THE sonata).

So put a note in your diaries and make a date for 3pm on Sunday 15th April at St Andrew’s Church, Eaton.

This concert is being given as part of an anniversary year of celebrations at St Andrew’s - 700 years since the first known vicar and 25 years of the new church building.”
